

Welcome Aboard Flight VISHAKHA!

The flight has stayed earthbound for 50+ years. It has been fueled by a convent education and a bachelor's degree in English (Hons.) from the University of Delhi. The flight enjoyed a test run for 4 years at The Taj Mahal Hotel, Delhi before it landed again.

It has stayed on-ground since then. The in-flight services helped hone skills in hospitality management, peacekeeping, diplomacy, tutoring, housekeeping, nursing, janitorial – name them and the skill raises its hand – Present Ma'am.

Over the past few years, it has been refueling itself making itself flight worthy. The fuel has been eco-friendly (kind of) in the form of published poetry and prose. To its' credit are four titles namely,

PROSE

In Search of Truth
.....Guru Shishya Relationship
Hidden Jewels
.....Lying in Plain Sight

POETRY

Ocean of Memories
The Divine Musician

(Publication House – Bluerose Publishers)

Additional fueling was provided by forays into setting up:

- 1) An Instagram account: momentswiththemaster.14
- 2) A Blog: momentswiththemaster.net

Having conducted a test run (as a published author) and becoming familiar with the nuances of self-publishing, the flight wishes to test its' wings for a take-off from the other side of the fence – proofreading/ ghostwriting /blogging/content writing would be a welcome addition to the skills for further in-flight services.

The flight awaits the ground engineer's signal to be airborne with these final words:

My kite is tied to a string of hope,
Like the tide, hope ebbs and flows,
Sometimes high, sometimes low,
My kite travels, on wings of hope.

It knows not when, storms shall batter,
Nor, if it'll sway in the gentle breeze,
Nor if rains will soak it through, or give birth anew,
Nor if the sun, will scorch or soothe.

It only knows that there is hope,
For it is tied, to a string of hope,
It only travels on the wings of hope,
For the winds of blessings, keep it afloat.
